

Dear colleagues,

I hope you all are doing well in these challenging times. Ophthalmology has received several exciting manuscripts for this issue. Atle Østern starts off by discussing various aspects of light and vision. Opportunities for research and collaboration in a European Network on rare disease are then presented by Neil Lagali.

Miriam Kolko's group describes challenges and opportunities using internet based perimetry. Effective screening of diabetic retinopathy using telemedicine is presented by Jakob Grauslund and potential for further improvements using artificial intelligence is discussed. Do's and Don'ts in times of Covid-19 is the topic of our last paper.

Anthony Mukwaya and Neil Lagali received the so far largest Nordic Best Paper Award (NOK 100,000; Gold) for their paper "Regulation of ocular inflammation and angiogenesis using corneal models – new insights based on recent research". Silver (NOK 25,000) was awarded to Zaynab Ahmad Mouhammad, Daniel Tiedemann, Miriam Kolko and Che J Connon. Congratulations!

Many thanks to the evaluation committee for their efforts to carefully evaluate all papers published in 2019. Congratulations to Marit Lippestad and Erlend Sommer Landsend on their dissertations, which are summarized in Ophthalmology.

The Editorial Board encourages our readers to contribute with manuscripts that are perceived to be of high interest to our colleagues. The next deadline for submission is on November 1, 2020.

On behalf of the editors, I wish you all a nice autumn.

Kind regards,

Tor Paaske Utheim
Editor-in-Chief

CONTENTS | NO. 1 | 2020

- ▶ 4 The light we (don't) see.
Atle Einar Østern
- ▶ 10 New rare disease European Network led by Sweden.
Neil Lagali
- ▶ 13 Dissertations from the Nordic Region. The role of the omega-3 fatty acid biosynthetic products resolvin D1 and resolvin E1 in maintenance of ocular surface health. Marit Lippestad
- ▶ 16 Internetbaseret perimetri – en mulig screeningsmetode for uopdagede synsfeltsdefekter?
Alvilda T. Steensberg, Ane Sophie Olsen og Miriam Kolko
- ▶ 19 Screening for diabetisk retinopati – etablering af en regional screeningsklinik.
Jakob Grauslund
- ▶ 27 Dissertations from the Nordic Region. Congenital Aniridia.
Erlend Christoffer Sommer Landsend
- ▶ 28 COVID-19: Do's and Don'ts.
Daniel Tiedemann, Zaynab Ahmad Mouhammad, Steffen Heegaard og Miriam Kolko
- ▶ 34 Evaluation committee Nordic Paper Awards 2019.
- ▶ 35 Best Nordic Paper Awards 2019
- ▶ Front page Illustration from the article COVID-19: Do's and Don'ts on page 28

Manuscripts

... can be sent to oftalmolog@grafia.dk.
For guidelines about manuscripts, deadlines and distribution:
www.oftalmolog.com

Next issue

... December 2020